Trusted and respected by architects, engineers, developers, and residential property owners across Western New York, the J.A. Gulick Window Company not only restores and preserves, but specializes in custom windows for new and historic buildings, matching historic elements.

With more than 30 years of experience in designing and manufacturing the highest quality, custom wood windows, John Gulick leads a team of experienced craftsmen that satisfy the most discriminating clients. With their unique skill and ability to manufacture wood windows that reflect the design, integrity, beauty, or historic requirements of buildings and homes of various architectural styles, they are renowned for their expertise.

Our Rigorous Manufacturing Process

Attention to detail and commitment to excellence are hallmarks of our manufacturing process and begin with the selection of rough-sawn lumber from virtually any desired species. Stile and rail dimensions specific to the design's requirements are milled to less than a $\frac{1}{64}$ " tolerance. The sash can be built to accept a traditional weight and pulley system or other balancing methods. As the painstaking production process continues, the stiles are put through a mortising machine, using a mortise and tenon joint that has been proven over time and originating in ancient Egypt. A quality control check ensures that all of the elements fit perfectly together; the pieces are then glued together with a water-resistant adhesive and allowed to dry. The glass is glazed from the exterior with a silicone sealant for superior water-proofing — a method that allows for the glass to be replaced without the requirement of a replacement sash. Finally, the sash is finished to the client's specifications.
